Fund Description

Lazard Global Convertibles Recovery Fund is benchmark-unaware and seeks to benefit from market anomalies in the global convertible bonds market. It invests in an actively managed long-only portfolio targeting 70 to 90 holdings which, according to the portfolio manager's analysis, have effectively been mispriced or undervalued by the market as a result of some manner of company-specific, sectoral, regional or global disruption. As such, security selection is expected to be the main performance driver of the strategy. Target volatility is between 7% and 10%, with potential for superior risk-adjusted returns.

Key Risks Related to the Fund

There is no capital guarantee or protection of the value of the Fund. The value of your investment and the income from it can go down as well as up and you may not get back the amount you originally invested.

There is a risk with convertible bonds that their value, when converted into equity securities, will vary to those of non-convertible equity securities, and their yield will be less than non-convertible debt securities. Additionally, such securities may have a mandatory equity conversion feature, which may result in receiving equity when it is declining or at an unfavourable price.

Investment in lower rated bonds increases the risk of default on repayment and the risk to capital of the Fund.

Key Risks Related to the Share Class

Your shares will be hedged with the aim of reducing the effect of exchange rate fluctuations between their denominated currency and the base currency of the Fund. This may not completely eliminate currency risk and therefore, any residual risk may affect the performance of your shares.

See "Risk Factors" in the UCITS' Prospectus and Fund Supplement for more information about risks.
