Portfolio managers comments

The animal spirits of China's stock markets were finally rekindled after the emergence of Deepseek and the publication of its latest (at the time) LLM "R1" model. The Hang Seng China Enterprises Index (HSCEI) gained +15.19% over the month, thanks to its relatively high concentration in the technology sector. Following Deepseek, Alibaba also released its latest Qwen LLM model and announced its intention to spend more on investment over the next three years than it has accumulated over the last ten. All these events served as catalysts for the rise of many technology stocks, some of which recorded significant movements. We believe that there is still room for further movement despite the rise in valuations, as the des cycle is now positive for many of these stocks. At the same time, the economy as a whole remains sluggish despite some signs of stabilization. more profits The central government will have to take stimulus measures to restore confidence. The next event to watch will be the two sessions of the National People's Congress.

The Indian market continued its correction from the peak reached last September, recording a further decline of 7.80% over the month, with small and mid caps underperforming large caps. The latest budget plan presented at the beginning of the month was in line with expectations, but reconfirmed that the country's GDP growth would be around +6% p.a. instead of +7%. Consumer spending measures will outweigh government investment spending, at least for the time being. On the positive side, the RBI's new governor officially kicked off the rate-cutting cycle eagerly awaited by the market. He also reaffirmed the RBI's commitment to sustainably supporting liquidity in the banking system. The only concern is the persistent weakness of the rupee, which could prevent the RBI from further easing its policy.

Brazil reversed some of the gains made in January, as investors became more realistic in the face of the still difficult deadline of the next Brazilian presidential election in October 2026, more than 18 months away. We can't just rejoice at the temporary decline in Lula's popularity, while the challenges facing the Brazilian economy remain unchanged. Mexico improved on January's rise, but remained volatile, with shifting US tariff decisions providing little certainty for companies. Indonesia was the biggest disappointment, with the market down -15.51% (MSCI Indonesia). Investors sold off their holdings as earnings growth remained lacklustre, causing the stock market to depreciate.

Over the month, DNCA Invest Global Emerging Markets returned +5.04%, compared with +1.48% for its benchmark index. Chinese technology stocks were the main contributors: Alibaba, Tencent, Sunny Optical, Naura Technology and Lenovo. In addition to the global revaluation induced by the publication of , Alibaba and Lenovo both reported strong quarterly figures, while Sunny Optical announced a positive earnings warning, confirming the earnings revaluation cycle. BYD also outperformed, as the company announced the large-scale roll-out of autopilot features without raising product prices. We believe the company is well positioned to win further market share by improving the competitiveness of its products. The month's detractors came mainly from other Asian regions. TSMC underperformed as part of the Nasdaq correction in the AI supply chain. Dr Lal DeepseekPathlabs, the Indian diagnostic laboratory chain, was downgraded due to widespread selling in the small- and mid-cap space without any deterioration in its fundamentals. Shares in Bank Central Asia (Indonesia) and Amorepacific (Korea) also fell over the period.

Analysis methodology

We develop proprietary models based on our expertise and conviction to add tangible value in the selection of portfolio securities. DNCA's ESG analysis model, Above & Beyond Analysis (ABA), respects this principle and offers a rating that we control the entire construction. Information from companies is the main input to our rating. The methodologies for calculating ESG indicators and our responsible investor and engagement policy are available on our website by clicking here.

<sup>(1)</sup> The rating out of 10 integrates 4 risks of responsibility: shareholder, environmental, social and societal. Whatever their sector of activity, 24 indicators are evaluated, such as social climate, accounting risks, suppliers, business ethics, energy policy, quality of management.

<sup>(2)</sup> The ABA Matrix combines the Responsibility Risk and the Sustainable Transition exposure of the portfolio. It allows us to map companies to be mapped using a risk/opportunity approach.

<sup>(3)</sup> 1 No poverty. 2 Zero hunger. 3 Good health and well-being. 4 Quality education. 5 Gender equality. 6 Clean water and sanitation. 7 Clean and affordable energy. 8 Decent work and economic growth. 9 Industry, innovation and infrastructure. 10 Reduced inequalities. 11 Sustainable cities and communities. 12 Sustainable consumption and production. 13 Tackling climate change. 14 Aquatic life. 15 Terrestrial life. 16 Peace, justice and effective institutions. 17 Partnerships to achieve the goals.

<sup>(4)</sup> 5 transitions based on a long-term perspective of the financing of the economy allow the identification of activities with a positive contribution to sustainable development and to measure the exposure of companies in terms of turnover as well as exposure to the UN Sustainable Development Goals.

*The coverage rate measures the proportion of issuers (equities and corporate bonds) taken into account in the calculation of the extra-financial indicators. This measure is calculated as a % of the net assets adjusted for cash, money market instruments, derivatives and any vehicle outside the scope of "listed equities and corporate bonds".

It should be noted that DNCA Finance changed its non-financial data provider in October 2023 from monitoring negative externalities by the Scope Rating provider to monitoring performance indicators (PAI) by the MSCI provider.

This change of supplier and indicator typology prevents DNCA Finance from producing a 3-year ESG performance comparison. DNCA Finance Committed to produce this historical data from the data available in December 2023.

Glossary

Beta. Measures the average extent to which a fund moves relative to the broader market. The beta of a market is 1. A fund with a beta of more than 1 moves on average to a greater extent than the market. A fund with a beta of less than 1 moves on average to a lesser extent. If beta is a minus number, it is likely that the stock and the market move in opposite directions.

Correlation coefficient. The correlation coefficient is a measure of correlation. It is used to determine the relationship between two assets over a given period. A positive coefficient means that the two assets move in the same direction. Conversely, a negative coefficient means that the assets move in the opposite direction. The correlation or decorrelation can be more or less strong and varies between -1 and 1.

Dividend yield. Annual dividends per share / Price per share

EV (Enterprise Value). Market value of common stock + market value of preferred equity + market value of debt + minority interest - cash and investments.

ND/EBITDA (Net Debt / EBITDA). A measurement of leverage, calculated as a company's interest-bearing liabilities minus cash or cash equivalents, divided by its EBITDA. The net debt to EBITDA ratio is a debt ratio that shows how many years it would take for a company to pay back its debt if net debt and EBITDA are held constant.

P/B. The Price to Book Ratio is the ratio of the market value of equity (market capitalisation) to its book value. It is used to compare the market valuation of a company with its book value.

P/CF (Share price/Cash Flow per Share). The price-to-cash-flow ratio is an indicator of a stock's valuation.

PER (Price Earnings Ratio). A company's share price divided by the amount of profits it makes for each share in a 12-month period. PE ratios are normally calculated on the base of all the profit made in the period, whether or not the profit is paid out to shareholders in that period.

ROE (Return On Equity). The amount of net income returned as a percentage of shareholders equity. Return on equity measures a corporation's profitability by revealing how much profit a company generates with the money shareholders have invested.

Sharpe Ratio. A way of measuring the historical risk-adjusted return on an investment. It is the average previous return minus the risk-free return, divided by the standard deviation (a measure of risk that looks at the diversion of actual returns from expected returns).

Sharpe Ratio. The Sharpe ratio measures the excess return over the risk-free money rate of an asset portfolio divided by the standard deviation of that return. It is therefore a measure of the marginal return per unit of risk. It is used to measure the performance of managers with different risk policies.

Tracking error. Tracking Error is a measure of how closely an investment portfolio follows the index against which it is benchmarked. It is the difference in the return earned by a portfolio and the return earned by the benchmark against which the portfolio is constructed. For example, if a bond portfolio earns a return of 5.15% during a period when the portfolio's benchmark (say, for example, the Lehman Brothers Index) produces a return of 5.06%, the tracking error is .09%, or 9 basis points.
